Welcome!

The long awaited season is finally upon us. A season that ushers in warm weather, long days, and for our children . . . Freedom! But before we plan out the next 10 weeks, filling them with vacations, camps, and yard work, let us give God the first fruits of our time. Schedule early morning devos (that might be noon for teens) and some evenings gazing at the sunset. In our haste to run with friends, let us first walk with God . . . the creator of summer and all good things!

CHAOS IS COMING!

We are beginning a new Vacation Bible School, and we are calling it Chaos. In Japanese, the symbol for chaos is the same symbol for opportunity! We will be offering a very hands-on Biblically based curriculum that has been created and will be "manned" by our own folks. So mark your calendars and join us on Wednesday, July 14th, 5:30-9:00 for a night of chaos.

Reflections

Joe Bagby

If you had the opportunity of choosing anything you wanted, no restrictions and no "holds barred" – what would you choose? I know most of you are saying that this isn't possible because no one can have what they really want without someone or something putting some stipulations or restrictions to your desires! How does that sound to you? Do you think you would make a wise decision and choose something that would benefit not only you, but others as well? Do you think you would choose that which would show you to be a selfish individual, or would your choice demonstrate, for all to see, that others are more important than your own selfish desires?

Maybe the first thing I need to ask you is "how old are you"? Do you think that would make any difference in the bottom line of what most people would choose? Now think about this for a moment. Do you think there is any difference in how one thinks based on the age and circumstances of a person? If you are old enough, you know for a fact that your "life experience" and the more you have learned will make a tremendous difference in the way you decide on most crucial decisions. So, if you are only 30 years old, you aren't as wise as you should be, or need to be, in the days ahead.

What is the point of this little exercise? Does it mean that the older we become the smarter or wiser we will naturally be? Of course not! But it does mean that as we mature and become wiser by having to deal with life, we should be able to use what we have learned to benefit others. But I want you to ask yourself something right now? From whom and what are you learning to become wiser and more beneficial to others around you? Are you learning, "I can do all things through him who strengthens me!" Would that lesson make any difference?

Wow what a week. I hope you all were as blessed as I was from our Outreach Week. Billie Sue and I have heard nothing but good things from everyone about this past event and we were so excited to be a part of it. Thank you all for your help and your donations. Everyone did such a great job. I love to see everyone working together. Please continue to pray for those we were able to serve this past week and for all the churches in our area that we can continue to make a difference in our city.

Tonight we are having our Blue Haven meeting at 5PM. If you are planning on going to Blue Haven please plan to be there. We will be in the Warehouse. Also if you are helping with the puppets or in our drama for CHAOS we will be meeting here at the church at 3PM to prepare for that on this afternoon. And after all that we will be having our entire group CHAOS meeting right after church Sunday evening July 11th as well. So this is going to be a busy day.

After that we will be having our Summer servants on Thursday the 15th then we will be heading out for Blue Haven on Saturday the 17th. I hope you guys are all enjoying this summer. It has been a great one so far. Continue to do what your doing and let God lead you in all things. Take care and don't forget to pray!

-Levi
